REASONS FOR ALLOWANCE

1. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: The instant application discloses a signal reception method and apparatus for receiving a signal. A search of prior art records has failed to teach or suggest, alone or in combination, a method comprising:

“wherein said single down-converter is arranged to receive said received RF signal and simultaneously multiply said RF signal by a plurality of oscillator signals when operating in a first mode and multiply said RF signal by a single oscillator signal when operating in a second mode” along with the remaining limitations as disclosed in claim 1.

Neither does the prior art disclose:

a mobile telephone unit comprising; “a single a down-converter operatively coupled to the antenna and configured to down-convert said RF signal to form an intermediate signal, wherein said single down-converter is arranged to receive said received RF signal and simultaneously multiply said RF signal by a plurality of oscillator signals when operating in a first mode and multiply said RF signal by a single oscillator signal when operating in a second mode” along with the remaining limitations as disclosed in claim 13.

a CDMA receiver for operating in at least a first mode and a second mode, said CDMA receiver comprising:

“a single down-converter coupled to said initial RF stage and said oscillator, said down-converter for receiving said received RF signal and simultaneously multiplying said received RF signal by said plurality of oscillator signals when the receiver operates in the first mode, and multiplying said received RF signal by said single oscillator signal when the receiver operates in the second mode” along with the remaining limitations as disclosed in claim 20.

a base station unit comprising: “a single down-converter operatively coupled to said receiver and configured to down-convert said RF signal to form an intermediate signal, wherein said single down-converter is arranged to receive said received RF signal and simultaneously multiply said RF signal by a plurality of oscillator signals when operating in a first mode and multiply said RF signal by a single oscillator signal when operating in a second mode” along with the remaining limitations as disclosed in claim 21.

a chip apparatus comprising: “a single down-converter operatively coupled to said receiver and configured to down-convert said RF signal to form an intermediate signal, wherein said single down-converter is arranged to receive said received RF signal and simultaneously multiply said RF signal by a plurality of oscillator signals when operating in a first mode and multiply said RF signal by a single oscillator signal when operating in a second mode” along with the remaining limitations as disclosed in claim 23.

an apparatus comprising: “single means for down-converting said RF signal to form an intermediate signal, wherein said single means for down-converting is arranged to receive said received RF signal and simultaneously multiply said RF signal by a plurality of oscillator signals when operating in a first mode and multiply said RF signal by a single oscillator signal when operating in a second mode” along with the remaining limitations as disclosed in claim 25.
